QUALITY OF LIFE...

Ecology--the relationship between man and animal and nature--is no longer a remote word. Years ago, it was.

To types like me, who've lived in the city and the small town and even on a place called the Polo Farm, it is finding space where kids and horses can run, where cold springs feed crystalline lakes, brimmed by creeks and rivers whose only additive is mud.

It is swimming from the time you are thrown in over your head to iceskating while sane people stay in front of a warm fireplace. It is finding a path in an autumn countryside or watching the budding trees even as late snows melt. It is walking along Chesapeake Bay picking up sharks teeth washed in by the tide. It is being tossed into Lake Michigan, ice cold and free of gunk thick enough to walk on.

It is seeing clear skies from a train window until early morning lights up dense smoke belching from distant Pittsburgh blast furnaces. It is cycling along a gravel road amidst the aromatic plantings of mint growing on either side. It is walking in a field and disturbing a black snake whose emergence from his hole sends you jumping.

It is thinking, but never thinking anybody really can change these natural things, though civilization has been around for a couple hundred years. It is being alone or walking with someone, enjoying the singular music of the untransistorized bird or squirrel or cricket chatting in the trees.

It is climbing a low Huachuca mountain, the air thin and crisp, the sight of Arizona Indian not infrequent. It is looking at the snowy reaches of a blue Rockie not far from Taos.

It is gazing at the golden spread of stuff growing wild above the valleys and freeways of Central California, and it is San Francisco Bay yawning beneath the Golden Gate into the Pacific, fog spilling over.

It is the spiraling pines of East Texas and the ancient sequoias of the West Coast.

It is what is, punctuated too often by urban sprawl without reason, as if turning to the E's in the dictionary and suddenly discovering ecology because nature and men are beginning to rebel.

113-113-113

It is a reason to keep Texas free as possible of disorganization older cities afford, but cannot afford. It is a reason hope can become planning to bring nature into the city limits and leave a great deal of it beyond alone.

It is wanting lawn green as well as macadam black and concrete grey. It is building a city or town with nature in it. It is finding a unity for numbers, satisfying the elemental in modern man.

Driver Escapes Injury When Car Rolls Over

Chester L. Howard of Gause escaped serious injury early Tuesday morning when the car he was driving left the road and proceeded to travel in all sorts of directions.

The accident occurred about two miles east of Milano on Highway 79. Investigating highway patrolmen determined that the car slid 157 feet after leaving the road, and jumped a 46-ft culvert, going 166 feet in the air rolling end over end. The car then went another 105 feet before coming to a stop.

Howard was taken to the Hearne General Hospital and treated for cuts and lacerations.

Screwworm Cases Reported

Three screwworm cases have been confirmed in Milam County and all cattlemen are urged to watch livestock closely and to postpone any surgical operations possible.

Samples of suspected cases should be taken and sent to the laboratory at Mission. Vials for the purpose are available at the County Extension Office.

A major outbreak of screwworms is being reported in Texas this year, the largest since the eradication program started.

TV Program To Cite Junior High Project

Cameron Junior High School will be one of 30 Texas schools featured in a special program on Channel 7 (Austin) Sunday. Rosebud-Lott will also be featured in the 1:30 p.m. film.

The program is on outstanding pilot projects in the state. Cameron Junior High seventh grade history program has been named outstanding, along with Rosebud-Lott's elementary school program.

The film on individualized instruction is offered by the Texas Education Agency.

NATIONAL GUARD parachutist shows how it's done. This will be the scene Sunday when Guard members stage a public demonstration of military parachuting near Cameron. The jumps will be from Army helicopters.

National Guard To Parachute Near Cameron

The Texas Army National Guard will put on a public demonstration of military parachuting from helicopters Sunday in the Lamkin pasture two miles south of Cameron.

The demonstration will be staged by Company A 3D Battalion (Airborne) 143D Infantry of Temple and Cameron between 8 a.m. and 12 noon.

The site may be reached by driving out past Little River Bridge and turning right on a gravel road by Kahler's goat farm.

The Guard said for folks to bring a blanket because hillside seating is planned.

Criminal Justice Council Grants To Aid Milam

Five grants totaling $144,374 were approved by the Texas Criminal Justice Council to be awarded to the Central Texas Council of Governments (CTCOG).

A grant totaling $15,000 was designated for the expansion of the regional law enforcement teletype communications system, which includes nine law enforcement agencies. The Milam County Sheriff's Department is one of the agencies.

Others include law enforcement agencies at Bell County, Temple, Killean, Coryell County, Copperas Cove, Hamilton County, Lampasas County and Rockdale.

Another grant to CTCOG of $77,307 is to go to the Central Texas Youth Services Bureau for the upcoming year of operations. The Bureau is a CTCOG agency.

An organization that works with predelinquent children, the Youth Services Bureau will use its grant to increase the size and scope of its services, reported a Criminal Justice spokesman.

City Counters Rate Proposal

The city council meeting in regular session Tuesday evening offered Lone Star Gas Co. a counter proposal to the company's request for 9.63 percent increase in city gas rates.

The proposal, recommended by Mayor Gene Blake, would affect only large gas consumers and not most homeowners rates.

B. L. Edwards, Lone Star Gas Co. office manager, said he was not authorized to accept or reject any offers and the city's proposal would be forwarded to Dallas for study.

Only two persons appeared before the council at the public hearing called on the rate increase. Both objected to the proposal.

Mayor Blake's proposal also included the stipulation that future rate changes must meet approval of the council before being accepted. The company's proposal apparently would let the company adjust rates without negotiating through the council.

Edwards told the mayor that the city's proposal would "eliminate most customers," and Blake replied

"That's what we want to do."

In other business, the council appointed J. J. Heltman, Henry Litzman, E. L. Wied, and August Kunz to the Cameron Housing Authority. Their terms had expired.

An experimental oiling program on W. 12th St. was also discussed. The mayor noted that about 1000 feet had been treated with oil to eliminate dusty conditions. Another stretch of the street is being worked up. Cost of the first stretch was only $364, according to Streets Supt. James Hale.

City Water Supt. Alvin Hefft told the council that the discoloration of the city water recently was caused by not enough settling time after the excessive runoff from recent rains. He said the water would clear up in a few days.

Council discussed the possibility of installing another settling basin but cost would be a prohibitive $50,000.

Hefft told the council the water purity was not affected by the discoloration.

Mayor Blake told the council that the city's two main highways come under the Highway Beautification Act recently passed by the Legislature.

The Act provides that permits will be mandatory before business can erect outdoor advertising displays. Choice was made to give the Texas Highway Department the job of issuing the permits instead of the city.

Council also approved preparation of the base for asphalt paving of a stretch of Cedar St.

ROBBERY REPORTED

Hickman's Grocery reported a robbery of $50 in change to the Police Department Tuesday evening. The robbery was believed to have taken place at noon from a cash register in the store.

Noon Lions Auction

The Cameron Noon Lions Club will hold its annual radio auction Saturday beginning at 8 a.m. Proceeds from the auction will go to the club's project of rehabilitating Wilson-Ledbetter Park.

Farm Bureau To Hold Open House

By Lloyd Albertson

The Milam County Farm Bureau will hold an open house in its new offices at 110 South Travis Street on Sunday afternoon, June 25, and members and the public are invited to attend and inspect the recently completed building.

The open house will be held from 2 to 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

In addition to local officers, Texas Farm Bureau President J. T. Woodson of Waco will be on hand for the occasion. And Bill Hoover, Information Director, and Mrs. Creola Wobbe, Waco Assistant Office Secretary, also plan to attend.

Refreshments will be served during the afternoon, Mrs. Maxine Meyer, office secretary, said.

Location of the new building is just north of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company building on South Travis. One story, 30 by 60 feet, it is of cedar batten and brick veneer construction, and features a wide roof overhang in front. The interior includes several offices, a meeting or conference room, kitchen and store room, and is completely air conditioned. Landscaping is underway on the site, which extends over to College Street.

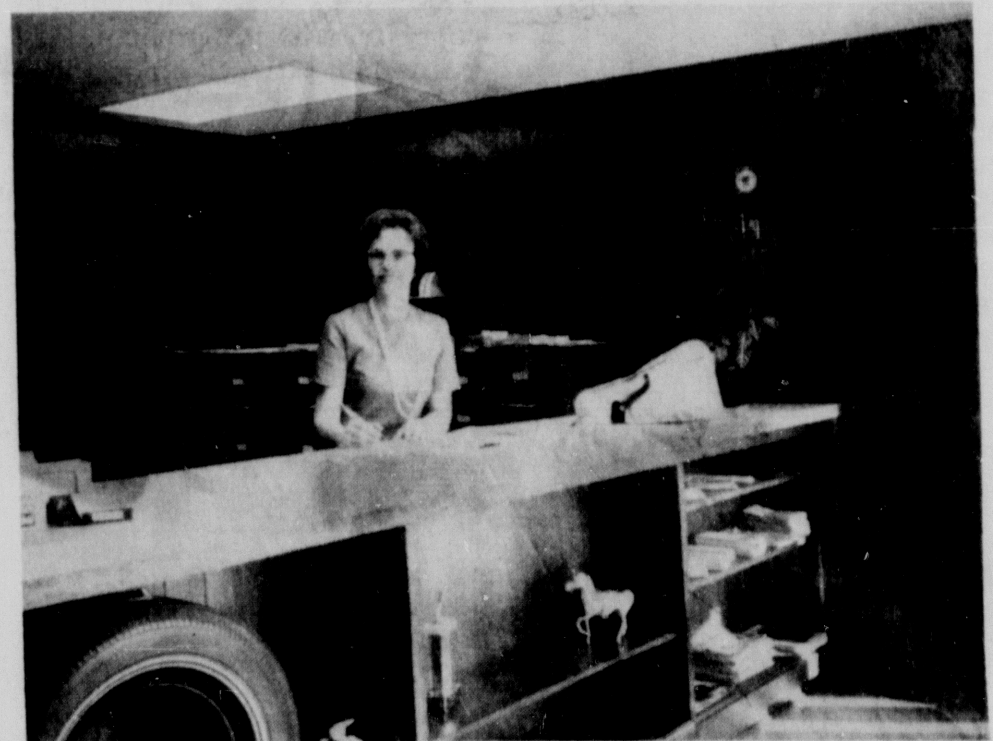

The new building is the fourth location for the Milam Farm Bureau office in Cameron since the organization was started over 25 years ago, but is the first one it has owned.

The Milam County Farm Bureau was organized in 1946. Officers and directors were elected in 1947. S. W. McClaren, Jr. was the first president and served during 1947-1948. The organization received its charter from the Secretary of State on May 31, 1949.

The FB's first office was located on North Houston Street near where the Texas Power & Light Company now has its office.

The organization had 74 members its first year, 1947. One of the early members, H. H. Chamberlain, recalls that he and the then County Agent, J. W. Stufflebeme, traveled around Milam County talking to farmers and ranchers to get them to join the organization.

Their efforts apparently paid off, because the records show the membership increased to 435 in 1948

INSIDE NEW FARM BUREAU building, Mrs. Alvin Meyer, secretary of the Milam County organization, is ready for business. The new office will host an open house Sunday for Farm Bureau members and friends.

Funds Approved, Stay Order Halts Dam Construction

The U. S. House Appropriations Committee approved $7.5 million for development of the San Gabriel River Monday, while an appellate court interim stay order still halts construction on controversial dam projects.

Several environmental groups and citizens were successful in getting an interim stay order stopping the construction of three reservoir projects on the San Gabriel June 7.

The U. S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans is expected to act in the near future on a request for a temporary injunction against the defendants in the suit.

Several high officers in the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers are named in the suit.

Plaintiffs included the Travis County Audubon Society, Save Our Streams, Texas Explorers Club, Williamson County landowner Charles C. Allison and Bob Burleson of Temple, Explorers Club president and Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission member.

On June 2, U. S. District Judge Jack Roberts refused a request by the environmentalists for a temporary injunction to halt construction on the Laneport, North Fork and South Fork projects on the San Gabriel.

In fiscal year 1971, Congress appropriated $335,000 in construction money for Laneport, but the funds were not to be released until July 1, 1972.

An emergency panel of the New Orleans court will make some disposition on the case.

Contracts for the Williamson County lake project were to be let last week for preliminary development until plans were stopped, U. S. Rep. W. R. Poage said Monday.

Old Desk Yields Big Surprise

Rodney Kruse, who came to Cameron this week to take over the job of Assistant County Agent, had an unusual adventure in his hometown of McGregor last week.

He didn't realize what a bargain he was receiving when he purchased an old, antique desk from the Copper Kettle in Gatesville.

Rodney, his brother Larry and a friend were refinishing the desk when they noticed that the top wouldn't come all the way down. When they took off a board covering the top Larry noticed a dollar bill stuffed in a narrow opening. Then Rodney stuck his hand down into the opening and he also pulled out a dollar, and another and another.

When it was all over the Kruse boys had 4 broken down into two tens, two fives, and 44 ones, many of which were silver certificates. A check for $10 also was found.

Mexico's Alvarez...

The new Mexican president is an example of American influence reaching finally to highest places in foreign lands.

President Luis Echeverria Alvarez is described as a dynamo, a proto-type Latin leader straight out of the American - style leadership mold.

He was in San Antonio this week dedicating a Mexican Cultural Institute and was heading for Washington to discuss joint border problems of Mexico and the United States.

He is quite likely a departure from the leadership in Mexico when the oil industry there was nationalized 30 or 35 years ago, the same thing the Middle East nations are scheduling.

His chief interest in Mexico is education.

"Most of Mexico's problems can be solved by education," he told a press group in San Antonio.

The atmosphere of an easy - going society of either upper class or poor will change with this kind of leadership.

His direction is the same other nations influenced by this country have taken since World War II. Japan, Germany (both halves), much of Europe have taken the American myth and drive as their own. Though we may have exported "can do" drives which create social complications for more casual societies, we have caught even Russia's desire for a better life.

Not everything can be resolved by education, but a lot of problems can. Mexico's Alvarez is continuing his nation's surge toward the 21st Century, an alternative to the Castro-Guevara Cuba of the 1960s. Alvarez obviously believes, education opens many ways for the many types of people and talents in any modern nation.

What Others Say...

The Boston Herald Traveler

Its later days were not as distinguished as its earlier and a case could be made that it is a victim of its own mistakes, but we are sorry that the Boston Herald Traveler has come to the end of its publishing days. Its fine modern printing plant has been bought up by the Hearst Record - American. We watch with interest the results of this improbable merger of uptown and downtown conservatism in Boston.

Big city newspapers can still be profitable in the United States. But their number is shrinking. The trend is toward monopoly, and even then, a single newspaper sometimes depends on radio and television stations for its profits. There is more money to be made in broadcasting news than in printing news.

In this condition there is a built-in danger to the public. Newspapers in the United States are protected from government censorship and control by the First Amendment to the Constitution. News broadcasting is not so protected. Local TV and radio stations are, on the contrary, licensed by the Federal Communications Commission, and their news flow from the major networks to that degree made susceptible to government pressure.

This raises the question of whether a newspaper, by extending itself out of the constitutionally protected realm of printed reportage and into the federally controlled area of broadcasting, opens itself to government influence.

Once cannot shrug off the possibility of a connection between the power of government to issue and revoke licenses, and the proclivity - evident in successive administrations from Kennedy through Johnson to Nixon - to influence the broadcasting of news. That power cannot be directly invoked against newspapers. The First Amendment still works.

So long as newspapers exist free from government influence, the American public can be reasonably sure of access to information free of government coercion. For that reason we regret the shrinkage in the ranks of major newspapers - in Boston or elsewhere.

"Low Down" FROM THE Congressional Record By JOE CRUMP

(A Column for Readers Who Haven't Time to Review the Congressional Record Daily)

N.Y. TIMESMEN STALL 'IMPEACHMENT' AD

REP. JACK F. KEMP (N.Y.)
"... When our relations with Peking and Moscow have reached the most promising stage in history, when we have achieved the first measure of success in negotiating a halt to the arms race, some Members of this body feel compelled to impeach our President."

"In their compulsion to impeach the President, these Members took out an advertisement in the NEW YORK TIMES, two full pages, calling for support for such action... To set the record straight, I include the Times article in the Record." (Excerpts follow:)

PRESSMEN DELAY
EDITION OF TIMES
Pressmen at the New York Times delayed the start of the first-edition press run of yesterday's issue for nearly 15 minutes to protest the contents of a paid advertisement seeking the impeachment of President Nixon.

Initially, officials of the Times said the pressmen said they would not operate the presses unless the advertisement was removed. The Times management refused to do this.

The pressmen then asked that a statement of their viewpoint be printed with the advertisement, but production officials again refused, saying that it was a matter for the news department to look into.

Richard Siemens, chairman of the New York Printing Pressmen's Union No. 2 at The Times said the pressmen felt the advertisement was "TRAITOROUS" and "DISHONORABLE TO THE BOYS IN VIETNAM AND PRISONERS OF WAR." He issued the following statement for the pressmen:

"We the members of the New York Times press room want it known that we do not agree with the action or intent of the paid advertisement on page 22 and 23 of Wednesday's issue, dated May 31, 1972, and are working under protest in printing it."

Mr. Ochs Sulzberger, the publisher of The Times, said in a statement yesterday that it was "inconceivable" that The Times would yield to economic pressure from its pressmen for the elimination of the advertisement with which they disagree. "The work stoppage which involved the use of economic force in an effort to censor the contents of the newspaper was a challenge to the concept of freedom of expression on which a free press is founded."

CRUMP'S COMMENT

The slogan of The New York Times is, "All the news that is fit to print." Possibly the pressmen feel that the slogan should include, "All the ADS that is 'fit' to print." The shifty way in which The Times procured the PENTAGON PAPERS casts some doubt on their indignation over, "freedom of expression."

It's galling to the pressmen to be a party to, what they believe is, a traitorous act.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:

This is supposed to be the age of mistrust, half the people say they don't believe what the government says, the government says half the time it can't believe what the people say, young people don't trust older people, older people don't trust young people, no country really trusts another country, and so it goes.

But I guess the climax was reached week before last in that public opinion poll which showed McGovern leading Humphrey in California by a lop-sided majority, only to have the actual voting result in just a slim margin.

But when that happened, the pollsters had a ready answer. They said the poll was right but a lot of voters voted the other way just to prove the poll was wrong.

You mean to say we've carried mistrust so far that there are now a lot of people in this country who, when asked by a pollster how they're going to vote, will tell him wrong just for the amusement of seeing their answer turn up as an inaccurate statistic?

This keeps up and it'll just about put the public opinion polls out of business.

To change the subject, I have discovered that there was one piece of information President Nixon brought back from his trips to China and Russia that has gone almost unnoticed. In promoting trade with the two countries, he said one of the things they're particularly interested in buying is computers.

This is encouraging news. It's great news. Any time a country needs more computers it means it's got more problems than it can solve.

You take a country that's still adding on its fingers and using a pencil and long division to figure up its national debt and life is still simple and orderly there, but when the problems get so big only a computer can handle them, look out.

I don't object to the use of computers, what I object to is thinking up problems big enough to require one.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Salads Slip Into Main Menu Spot And Satisfy When Meat Is Added To Bowl

Spring showers and sunshine have produced salad days. Organically crisp lettuce and other salad bowl favorites such as spinach, cucumbers, tomatoes, celery, carrots and green beans are in excellent supply and of high quality. These garden fresh vegetables make appealing salads. However, it's when meat is included that a salad achieves entree status. Men consider a salad more than mere "rabbit food" when it contains strips, cubes or slices of beef, pork, lamb or sausage. Meat produces a salad that satisfies as well as stimulates appetites, says Reba Staggs, home economist of the National Live Stock and Meat Board.

Lone Star Salad
2 cups julienne strips of cooked beef
1 can (16 ounces) red or pinto beans, drained

1 cup chopped celery
1/4 cup mayonnaise
1/4 cup chopped onion
1/4 cup pickle relish
2 tablespoons chili sauce
1 teaspoon salt
4 large tomatoes
Lettuce
Mix meat, beans and celery

in bowl. Combine mayonnaise, onion, pickle relish, chili sauce and salt; add to meat mixture and toss lightly to combine. Cover and chill 1 hour. Cut each tomato into 5 or 6 wedges (do not sever at base) and place on bed of lettuce, spread-

FORT WORTH

Brucellosis, screwworm and scabies control took the spotlight of the quarterly directors meeting of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association at Huntsville June 9 and 10, where some 300 cattlemen and associates gathered to explore the problem facing the industry.

William C. Donnell, TS-CRA president, guided the general session through the animal health oriented meeting.

The new intensified brucellosis program to bring the state to certified free status was proposed by the Commission at this meeting. TS-CRA directors John Armstrong, Hilmar Moore and John Biggs, were designated to determine the feasibility of this proposal.

A Weekly Report Of Agri-Business News

Compiled From Sources
Of The Texas Department of Agriculture
John C. White, Commissioner

Crop prospects said Fair... Wheat Production Up 30 Per Cent... Rural Development Commission Sets Meeting... Watermelon crop estimated at 630 Million Pounds... 1971-72 Texas Citrus Crop Down 8 Per Cent...

Crop prospects for most of the state are now rated as fair by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. The coastal bend areas and south Texas sections as well as a portion of the Panhandle have good prospects.

Pasture condition over the state is rated at 77 per cent of normal, compared with 52 per cent last year.

TEXAS WHEAT production is now estimated at 40,700,000 bushels. This is 30 per cent above the 1971 production of 31,416,000 bushels. Yield now is expected to average 22 bushels per acre, up one bushel from last year's average.

Wheat harvest is now more than 25 per cent complete; in the major wheat producing area of the northern high plains, main harvest is now underway.

Cotton is making good progress in most sections of the state, but heavy fleahopper and boll weevil infestation is reported from the Blacklands to the Lower Rio Grande Valley. Grain sorghum is heading out as far north as the Blacklands. Early stands of soybeans are making good progress on the High Plains.

A MEETING will be held June 27 in Austin of the newly created Rural Development Commission of Texas. A staff has been appointed and offices are located in the Texas Department of Agriculture.

The commission is composed of 25 members plus about 80 "resource people" to assist in rural development.

Primary thrust of the commission will be in these areas: economic development, rural natural resources, human resources, general government, transportation, health, housing and education.

Roy Davis of Lubbock is commission chairman. Ray Prewitt, formerly with Texas A&M University, is director. Jim McAlister is assistant director.

WATERMELON forecast for the state is now set at 630,000,000 pounds. This is 21 per cent above the 1971 crop. Harvesting will be underway soon in Central Texas and in East Texas in early July.

THE 1971-72 citrus crop is estimated at 15 million boxes. This is eight per cent below the 16.3 million boxes produced during the 1970-71 season. Grapefruit production at 9.2 million boxes is nine per cent below the 10.1 million boxes of the previous season.

Early and midseason oranges totaled 3.8 million boxes, five per cent below 1970-71 while Valencia oranges at two million boxes were down 9 per cent.

Harvest of the 1971-72 grapefruit and Valencia orange crop in the Lower Rio Grande Valley is complete.

Most growers report fruit set for the 1972-73 crop is good to excellent.

THE HIGHEST cotton acreage since 1965 was planted on the High Plains in 1971. The 177,300 acres planted but not harvested represented an abandonment of slightly more than seven per cent, which is near normal but above the 4.5 per cent abandoned in 1970.

Production was from 2,322,000 harvested acres for an average yield of only 264.4 pounds per acre; average per-acre production on the Plains for a 13-year period since 1958 is 453.6 pounds.

source problems, needs, and potentials along with an evaluation of other local economic and social conditions. Data from the study will be used to set up priorities for the approval of applications for Resource Conservation and Development Projects in the state.

Moisture Aids County Crops

By Bill McCutchen
Milam County Agent

Recent rains over most of the county was a real blessing. Rains will be a help to the grain sorghum crop, although it was a couple of weeks later than was desirable. Grain sorghum was beginning to burn on lighter land hurting yields, would have caused some severe lodging on some of the taller varieties.

Rain should also be a benefit to most of the cotton crop as moisture was running short in some areas and moisture should help in setting a crop.

The only problem is that the rains were spotted throughout the county with some areas receiving only about a half an inch.

Pastures were a big beneficiary of the rains and most of the pastures are making a quick recovery.

COTTON INSECTS

Fleahoppers are still very numerous in many fields and some of the younger cotton is showing considerable fleahopper damage. Older cotton is setting fruit at a sufficient rate.

Weevil numbers seem high for this time of year, but we must realize that cotton is early and we are getting punctures from the second (F2) generation of weevils.

Spot - treatment of hot spots in some fields has reduced populations and prevented infestation of the entire field in many cases.

Beneficials are increasing where insecticide applications have not been necessary recently, but they are still low in number. With the predicted increase in bollworm activity still a week and a half away, beneficials could buildup high enough in many areas to prevent bollworm damage.

PECAN INSECTS

The second generation of the pecan nut casebearer should begin doing some damage to the pecan crop this week.

I would urge pecan producers to watch for egg laying and pecan punctures to determine the necessity of spraying. Many times it is not necessary to spray for the second generation, while other years considerable damage is done.

3 SCREWORM CASES

Three screwworm cases have been confirmed in Milam County and I would urge all cattlemen to watch livestock closely and to postpone any surgical operations possible.

This has been an excellent program and it now needs the help of every cattleman in Texas to help stamp out the problem.

If you have any suspected cases, please send a sample and send them to the Mission Laboratory for positive identification.

Vials are available in the County Extension office.

CROPS TOUR PLANNED

The Milam County crops tour will be held July 3rd. Plans are for a half day tour starting from the Post Office building in Cameron. The tour schedule and further information will be printed in next week's column.

Additional Families Eligible For Rural Housing Loans

Many additional families in Texas are now eligible for rural housing loans from the Farmers Home Administration, FHA State Director J. Lynn Futch announced today.

"In families where both husband and wife are employed," Futch explained, "the new policy permits half of the wife's gross income to be included in determining whether the total family income is within the maximum limit for loan eligibility."

For example, the husband is the principal source of income with $6,000. His wife earns $4,000. His entire income, plus half of his wife's, or $2,000, total $8,000. This is within Texas' moderate income level of $8,000 so the family may be eligible for a Farmers Home Administration loan.

James V. Smith, National Administrator of Farmers Home Administration emphasized that newly-eligible families must demonstrate that they otherwise merit FHA financing, and that credit is not available from regular commercial sources.

"The new policy will assist families in which the wife's income is needed to prove the standard of living. Note that if the wife is the principal breadwinner, the rule does not apply. This change will no way effect our expanding service to low-income families," Smith said.

Loans may be made to families that will buy or build homes in open country or towns of up to 10,000 population, and who are not able to secure credit from regular commercial sources. Complete information is available from the agency's 143 county offices located in county seat towns throughout Texas.

Experimental Diet Shows Life Expectancy Increase

By Adrienne Farrell Reuter Correspondent

GENEVA Experiments with a starvation diet for rats may help add another 15 years to human life, according to the World Health Organization (W.H.O.).

Rats given a balanced but low-calorie diet for 1,000 days lived twice as long as other rats from the same stock who were given a normal diet, the experiments showed.

The low-calorie diet slowed down the rat's development and must have had some connection with the prolongation of their lives, W.H.O. said. Experiments with rats have been reported for several years in Britain, the Soviet Union, France, Italy and the United States.

In its magazine, World Health, the organization said research into delaying the human aging process was now being mooted in several countries.

They were considering the application to man of the experiments with rats, including restriction of food intake and protection from radiation.

"If this research proves successful, it is thought that it could not only add about 15 years to life, but also add life to years by postponing the onset of frailty," wrote Dr. Joshua Cohen of W.H.O.'s Geneva headquarters.

The age increase would give a man a life expectancy of 85 years instead of the present 70.

Cohen said the success of this research would bring its own social problems. Biologically, people would become old later, but if they were allowed to go on working beyond present retirement age their skills might become outdated. Young people might object to waiting for long periods for top positions.

If, on the other hand, people were forced to retire at 65 with years of potential vigor before them, their longer enforced leisure might become a curse instead of a blessing.

Cohen questioned whether economically productive members of society and the environment could support the burden of an increasing group of old people, and whether the aged, by force of numbers, energy and available time, would assume a new social and political importance.

W.H.O. estimated that there are already about 120 million people in the world over the age of 70.

For those already growing old, the magazine offered a simple formula for a long and happy life: "Keep busy."

"The first rule for growing old wisely is to keep physically active and mentally alert," wrote Italian geriatrics professor Francesco Antonini.

Old people should try to keep their normal place in the structure of society. Excesses and over-strenuous efforts should be avoided, but cessation of all activity was even more dangerous.

"The temptation simply to give up should be fought at all costs," he said.

French Sports Newspaper Is Favorite Of All Fans

By David Lawday
Reuter Correspondent

PARIS

Many a Frenchman's idea of a good workout is to put on his tracksuit and jog down to the corner cafe to study Lequipe over a double cognac.

It is one of the sporting worlds stranger paradoxes that the French are far from outstanding in sports and yet have an incomparable opportunity to know more about it than anyone else.

With the Olympic games starting soon in Munich, France's corner cafe athletes can count on getting into top shape by reading Lequipe, the unique sport daily which more Frenchmen (2.8 million) read every Monday morning than any other newspaper in this country.

Even if France does not send a team to the Olympics - a far-fetched prospect which could theoretically happen if a bureaucratic wrangle over the make-up of the French Olympic Committee is not resolved - Lequipe will have its own 35-man team in Munich to assure a strong presence.

While the French press lingers in a general financial depression, Lequipe - meaning "the team" - claims to have increased its readership by close to 10 per cent over the past year.

This growing readership is not limited to France. Among the paper's subscribers is America's Avery Brundage, controversial guiding light of the Olympic games, who apparently regards Lequipe as an international sports reference.

One story told at the paper's cramped headquarters in the right bank district below Montmartre is that Brundage emerged to face the press after one particularly difficult Olympic committee meeting in Luxembourg and asked the Lequipe correspondent, "you don't have tomorrow's Lequipe so I can find out what's happening?"

Part of what set the paper apart in the sports news industry is the variety of its daily cover - everything from weightlifting and canoeing to its two major preoccupations, football and motor racing. Its policy of creating top sports events to sustain interest also distinguishes the paper.

It founded the prestigious Tour de France bicycle race, an annual classic. It also created all other major cycle races in France as well as the Tour de France for motor cars.

Edouard Seidler, the young managing editor who moulds the paper, believes French readers are far better informed about the international sports scene than are people in other countries.

"Though we're not all that successful at sport ourselves, we have often replaced the star we didn't have with foreign stars. Pele and Cassius Clay are as important to our readers as any French star," he said.

"We try not to be too chauvinistic," he added. "There's no question our readers rejoice when France wins - and we rejoice along with them. But we try to remain objective internationally."

He recalled that when a Frenchman won a gold medal during the Tokyo Olympics in an equestrian event, a fringe sport here, Lequipe did not over-dramatize it like the sporting press in other countries might have done.

It gave top headlines to America's Don Schollander winning his fifth swimming gold medal.

Seidler, who once studied business at UCLA, claims that his paper is one of the very few which have understood the consequences of television and come to terms with it.

"We are fighting it. We are not copying it, we are not joining it (well, only to some extent), we are going beyond it. Most papers are a pale copy of what people have already seen on television."

Instead of recounting move by move to the reader what he has probably seen, Lequipe writers analyze a match in depth, explain, comment and interview the contestants.

"Television is no longer an enemy for us. It's a colleague we collaborate with," Seidler said.

Lequipe reporters cover 475,000 miles by train within France alone every year - equivalent to an overall journey to the moon and back. Their trips overseas touch all corners of the globe. Sometimes they end up in odd situations.

Track and field specialist Guy Lagorce, a former European record holder, recalls that a few years ago he was the only western journalist present in Phnom Penh, Cambodia for "the games of the rising forces." It was a mini-olympiad for China, North Korea, North Vietnam and a few other nations not in the Olympic fold.

Lagorce tells how a girl athlete in the Hanoi squad broke step with her group in the opening ceremony parade, ran over to the organizing officials, and proudly presented them with the helmet of a downed U. S. pilot.

Eighteen Lequipe staff writers will be covering the 1972 Olympics.

RACESTOPPER - Sharon Maitland will be one of the pretty girls present at the Lone Star 500 at Texas World Speedway to participate in all pre-race and victory lane activities.

Racing Press Pick Allison To Win 500

COLLEGE STATION

The big drawing card of the 1972 auto racing season is a 34-year old driver from Hueytown, Alabama named Bobby Allison and the car he drives, a 1972 Chevrolet Monte Carlo prepared by Junior Johnson of Ronda, North Carolina.

Drivers, mechanics, promoters, and just about everybody connected with Grand National stock car racing, agree that fans are coming to the country's super-speedways to watch Allison and his Chevrolet run - and win.

Going into last Sunday's 400-mile road-race at Riverside, California, Allison has earned $105,115 in winnings with his Chevrolet.

This is perhaps one reason why the nation's leading motorsports writers and broadcasters who make up the exclusive Union 76 Racing Panel of Experts have named Bobby Allison as the favorite driver to win the Lone Star 500-mile NASCAR Grand National stock car race scheduled for this Sunday, here at the 2-mile long Texas World Speedway.

Allison received 30 first place votes in a special pre-race balloting to establish the favorite driver going into the race.

Second choice of the Racing Panel of Experts was stock car racing's all-time money winner, Richard Petty of Randleman, North Carolina, who will drive a 1972 Plymouth in Sunday's event. Petty received 18 first place votes.

...because of a cherry soda and the Bill of Rights...

"When I was seven, I had my first cherry soda right here. That's when I decided that one day I'd own the whole soda fountain... and the drugstore, too! And, in this country, my dream could come true because of the free enterprise system."

The Bill of Rights made possible the free enterprise system... the system which permits people to go into business... to offer a product or service... and to make a fair profit.

As individuals... as businesses... as a nation, we are stronger because of the free enterprise system. By preserving this system, we help assure our strength in the future.

TSTI Gets WORC Grant

WACO

Three Texas Congressional leaders announced a $50,000 grant to the James Connally Campus of the Texas State Technical Institute this week.

The announcement came from U. S. Rep. W. R. "Bob" Poage and U. S. Senators John Tower and Loyd Bentsen.

The funds will be used in project WORC, World of Related Curriculum, in the instructional media area of the Waco campus.

The grant will provide means for developing individualized instructional packets and aid in training teachers to design self-paced instructional materials. The funding comes from the Title III section of Strengthening Developing Institutions of the U. S. Office of Education.

State Tech is one of three post secondary institutions which will work within a consortium which was funded for a total of 150 thousand dollars. The other schools in the consortium are Wharton County Junior College and Weatherford Junior College.

GAIL FARRELL will be in the spotlight at the Municipal Auditorium in Austin on Monday, June 26 for one performance only at 8 p.m. where she will be featured with a musical variety show of 14 members from the Lawrence Welk TV Show.

Rep. Kubiak Has Hopes Of Lower Insurance Rates

Rep. Dan Kubiak said this week that "it is possible to cut the soaring car insurance rates this summer." He said the three-man insurance board will hold its annual auto insurance hearing July 24, with new rates to take effect September 1.

"Nationwide, underwriting profits are at an all-time high, in addition to investment profits," Kubiak said.

He gave these figures about insurance in Texas: "We are second in vehicles, fourth in population and 27th in rates in the 50 states. Our office is doing everything possible to halt the increasing insurance rates."

Kubiak noted that the third called special session began Wednesday. The 30-day session is called to enact appropriations for general state services authorized under existing law for the fiscal year beginning Sept. 1, 1972 and ending August 31, 1973.

"Our Rules Committee of which I am a member met last Thursday in Austin and drafted an ethics bill for legislators which should be considered during this special session along with my bill to repeal various provisions of the controversial trailer brake and light law," Kubiak said.

"Many legislators have joined us in our battle to see that the strong requirements on the same small farm trailers will be modified. Above all, we are trying to get lights exempted entirely on a 11 cotton trailers which are not used at night.

"Each would be required to have a SMV (Slow Moving Vehicle) sign on it. Farm trailers grossing less than 10,000 pounds would be exempted from the brakes and lighting provisions of the act if this bill passes," he added.

EARLY FLAG?

In the painting of Washington crossing the Delaware, a soldier is shown holding the American flag, though it had not been designed at that time.

Jehovah's Witnesses To Meet At Abilene

Jehovah's Witnesses have selected Abilene as one of 59 convention sites in the United States for their 1972 series of worldwide meetings.

Durwood Herbelin, presiding minister of Cameron, said this year's assembly will be conducted under a theme of "Divine Rulership" and is scheduled for July 13-16.

Herbelin said twenty conventions are planned for Canada, others in the British Isles, in addition to those in other lands. He said upwards of 500,000 people are expected to attend.

Convention officials said the Taylor County Coliseum will be used for the assembly.

Herbelin said the acquisition of many more convention sites was required this year due to continuing global expansion of the religious group. Other conventions are being arranged for in Houston and Amarillo in English and San Antonio in Spanish.

Guidelines Suggested In Buying Recreational Lot

COLLEGE STATION

Springtime brings with it the desire to get outside and enjoy various recreational activities.

Due to this interest there's an increase in advertisements of lake lots, wilderness lots and speculative land investments," noted Mrs. Bonnie Fowler of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service at Texas A&M University. "If you're considering the purchase of land for a vacation or retirement home or as an investment, there are some guidelines to keep in mind."

The home management specialist suggested making a personal visit to the land to see for yourself the condition of the site. Find out what facilities, utilities and roads are there. Ask if water and electric power facilities are available at reasonable costs. Does the management permit septic tanks?

Be sure to check on recreational facilities. If the land developer advertises a golf course, swimming pool, boat marina or other recreational activities, find out the status of these items. Ask if they're still in the "early planning stages." Find out exactly when they'll be completed.

Be careful of buying land for a retirement home in an isolated area. Discover the distance to stores, medical care, banks, churches and other public services. How close are neighbors? Many lots have been sold in remote and desolate deserts, mountains and swamp areas.

Mrs. Fowler explained that passage of a federal law cuts down on land sale fraud by requiring sellers to provide information about the land. Under the Interstate Land Sales Full Disclosure Act, the land developer who offers 50 or more unimproved lots for sale and advertises across state lines must file a statement of record containing detailed information about the property with the Office of Interstate Land Sales Registration, U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, Washington, D. C. 20411. This report must be filed before the land can be offered for sale.

The act also requires sellers to provide prospective buyers with a property report containing information needed by the consumer to make a decision whether or not to buy. The report includes information on the availability of water, electricity, sewer service and recreational facilities. The report must also include information regarding the existence of liens on the property, the type of title the buyer receives and the distances to nearby communities over paved and unpaved roads.

"Study the property report carefully before making a decision," advised Mrs. Fowler. "The law requires the buyer to give you a copy of the report at least 48 hours before you sign the contract."

When buying land, avoid being misled by a "free" lot offer. Many real estate promoters offer "free" lots in developments sites as a lure to sell land. Often fees, charges or other strings are attached to getting these lots.

"Some companies offer a free weekend at a development site to enable potential buyers to see the land," the specialist concluded. "Some developers use this as an excuse to pressure visitors to buy while other simply provide information about the site. When taking advantage of a free weekend, keep in mind that travel and some other expenses may not be covered."

Nothing makes a better summertime treat than real ice cream. And nobody makes better ice cream than Lilly.

Lilly ice cream is real ice cream. The old fashioned dippin' kind. Each flavor is carefully blended from fresh, sweet cream. No artificial "filler" is ever used. And if the label mentions fruit, you can be sure that real, ripe fruit (not just fruit "flavoring") is generously added to the cream.

Treat your family to some real ice cream tonight. Pick up a barrel of Lilly ice cream at your favorite foodstore.

It's a big dipper.

Memorial Weekend Drowning Losses

Parks and Wildlife officials had the dismal task last week of counting water-oriented fatalities from the Memorial Day weekend.

Over the four-day holiday, from 26 May to 29 May, 24 people lost their lives in Texas' waters.

The warm weather brought out swimmers and 19 unfortunate bathers died in swimming accidents. One life was lost in a boating accident.

Perhaps the saddest statistic is that 13 fatalities were 18 years of age or younger.

A total of 121 Texans lost their lives in the water during May of 1972; that's 30 more than in May of last year.

PAINTERS put the finishing touches on the floor of the building that has been remodeled for Eplen Furniture. The local company will move to its new location next week.

Savory Almond Din Leads Double Life as Party or Family Fare

Old favorites are fine, but a smart hostess gives a new recipe a chance — especially when it produces a dish that's sure to provoke interest at a party luncheon. Savory Almond Din, a foreign-inspired entree with a gourmet flair, generates favorable comment.

Recipes with an Oriental ancestry appeal on several scores. First there's flavor — intriguing and satisfying. Secondly there's the calorie count — lower than the usual party fare loaded with rich gravy or sour cream sauce.

The recipe for Savory Almond Din scores another plus. Pork steaks, cut in strips and browned, then braised with vegetables, create a delicious luncheon dish that is comparatively low in cost as well as calories, according to Reba Staggs, home economist of the National Live Stock and Meat

Board. There's no need to reserve it for company — it also makes a satisfying family meal.

Savory Almond Din

2½ pounds pork blade steaks, cut ½ inch thick
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
2 bouillon cubes
½ cup boiling water
1½ cups sliced celery

1 large green pepper, cut in ¼-inch strips
1 package (9 ounces) frozen Italian green beans
½ cup boiling water
1 can (4½ ounces) whole mushrooms
1 can (8 ounces) water chestnuts, drained and sliced
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

2 tablespoons cornstarch
½ cup water
1 jar (4 ounces) pimientos, drained and cut in 1-inch squares
Cooked rice
¼ cup blanched whole almonds, toasted
Cut steaks into strips about ½ to 1 inch wide and 2 inches long. Brown meat lightly in lard or drippings. Cover tightly and cook slowly 30 minutes. Pour off drippings. Dissolve bouillon cubes in boiling water and pour over meat. In saucepan combine celery, green pepper strips and frozen Italian green beans with ½ cup boiling water and bring to boil. Cover and simmer 5 minutes. Drain. Add celery, green pepper, beans, mushrooms and liquid, water chestnuts, salt and pepper to meat and mix well. Mix cornstarch with ½ cup of water, add to meat and vegetables and cook, stirring constantly until thickened. Add pimientos. Cover and cook over low heat 5 minutes, stirring occasionally. Serve with cooked rice and top with toasted almonds. 6 to 8 servings.
